Built following the 1852 reform of the Militia to provide a secure and defensible store for the local regiment, the now T.A Centre was one of a number of decorative barracks which were intended to act as a focus of local pride and to assist in filling the regiment's quota of recruits.

Located in the Boot & Shoe conservation area of Northampton, the grade II listed building has now been given the go ahead for an extensive refurbishment of nearly all of its 100+ rooms. The internal refurbishment also includes the renovation of its existing metal windows, replacement of timbers windows and the installation of secondary glazing.
