Sector: Public / Education
Location: Kings Cross, London
Client: The Francis Crick Institute
Approx Value: £1.1m

The Francis Crick Institute is a new biomedical facility recently completed in central London.

It is a unique partnership between six of the UK's most successful scientific institutions it is a world-class research centre and one of the most significant developments in UK biomedical science for a generation.

GNA were appointed principal designer (H&S) to ensure health and safety compliance throughout the post completion works.

Due to the central London location and the intended use of the facility as a major biomedical research centre, security and access were a major focus throughout the programme.

It was GNA duty to ensure that all contractors were suitably vetted and that the appropriate risks had been considered and mitigated at every stage by the relevant contractors.
