£500,000

The project was the interior refurbishment and fit out at the Nottingham offices of national law firm Brownes Jacobson LLP. The scheme involved the redesign of the reception area and the meeting room suite. A coffee shop facility was also designed to provide areas for informal meetings and internet.

Glazed partitions were utilized in the meeting rooms to open up the reception, which itself was designed in a unique 'pod' design to encourage a more personal approach for clients upon entry to the office.

The scheme involved the installation of new lighting, power, air conditioning, kitchen equipment installation, desks, furnishings, decorations and internal graphics.
